

1. The first bar is light gray and represents the baseline or control group.

2. The second bar is medium gray and represents the first experimental condition.

3. The third bar is dark gray and represents the second experimental condition.